To whom it may concern:

Goody Clancy has had the pleasure of working with Kohnen Starkey (KSI) for more than two years on multiple projects. KSI has provided a range of services including cost estimating, life cycle analysis and schedule support. They are masters in evaluating constructability issues and we rely on their judgment to help us weigh issues such as construction phasing and sequencing. We are very satisfied with Mark Starkey, Kevin Kohnen and all the members of Kohnen Starkey and their ability to accurately meet deadlines.

We are currently working with KSI on St Elizabeths West Campus DHS Headquarters and Consolidated NOC in Washington, DC; a large, complex, multiphase project for the GSA. KSI has demonstrated a consistent ability to respond quickly to design team and client requests for cost information despite the dynamic nature of the project requirements.

KSI's deliverables are consistently of a high quality. Mark and Kevin are very accessible to address any questions we have about cost approach and underlying assumptions. Their background in the construction industry and their thorough knowledge of the entire construction process brings an added level of understanding to their analysis. We unequivocally recommend KSI and would be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Goody Clancy
